USED SHIPPING CONTAINERS, RE-PURPOSED INTO HOMES.

Thank you to ReContained for providing the container home available at the On-Site Housing Options Tour during the 2016 Kentucky Affordable Housing Conference.

ReContained envisions providing a consumer-driven alternative to traditional construction using cargo containers and other innovative building materials and sciences. ReContained's buildings and designs will deliver high-performance energy efficiency, with a unique look and lifestyle.

Building science innovations in the last decade have empowered new thoughts on how homes are created. The interest in container buildings is growing, with major media outlets (CNN Money & USA Today) covering the topic on a regular basis. ReContained saw an opportunity to deliver a new type of home to Kentucky.

ReContained offers two applications of container housing. An accessory dwelling unit, that consists of a single 20-foot container; and a primary dwelling, consisting of two 40-foot containers, on a fixed foundation.

QUALITY, AMISH-BUILT BUILDINGS AND FURNITURE.

Thank you to USA Portable Buildings for providing the wooden sheds available at the On-Site Housing Options Tour during the 2016 Kentucky Affordable Housing Conference.

USA Portable Buildings is a family-owned business located in Kentucky, building the highest quality storage buildings, furniture, gazebos, swingsets, and adventure size log cabins available anywhere. USA Portable Buildings' products are crafted by Amish and Mennonite craftsmen, using the methods that have made those communities well known for their quality.

While most of USA's products are delivered fully built, they can build on-site in selected areas, and can build larger size buildings. USA Portable Buildings offer built and delivered kits, or built on-site kits, and a large variety of custom design options.

USA Portable Buildings has taken the mission of housing Kentuckians to heart. At their location in Bullitt County, homeless persons are welcome to shelter overnight in any of the USA Portable Buildings units on-site, with the stipulation they clean up after themselves and vacate before the company opens for business.
